

about michael accadia

Born in 1957, Michael began his musical education watching and listening to his father play the drums with many local bands in the Chicagoland area.

After discovering the trumpet through his grade school music program, Mike, at age 10, began studying the trumpet privately.

While attending DePaul University, Mike became active in the Chicago music scene. He has performed with national touring theater productions, Las Vegas acts, legendary jazz musicians, and Rock and Roll Hall of Fame artists

Today Mike is maintaining an active schedule performing, teaching, and writing about playing music and the trumpet.

accadia music

mission statement

Our mission is to help foster and develop thoughtful, independent, creative, and collaborative musicians.

By teaching mindfulness we learn to see more clearly, listen more attentively, taste more acutely, smell more discerningly, and touch more fully.

By encouraging the use of proprioception when training we discover knowledge about ourselves, and master skills.

By employing ourselves in all our activities we have fun and find happiness.

Committed to Excellence in Music Education
